

780 West Wheelock Parkway
St. Paul, MN 55117

May 1, 2009

Dear Reader:

Hello! I'm Kayla, a sixth grader at Como Park Elementary. My class is currently learning about Global Warming. I'm writing this letter because I think that Global Warming is not as big of an issue as people are making it. I think Global Warming is a cycle that happens naturally every 1,500 years, as a way to "recycle" the Earth. And so I believe that humans and their technological advancements have little to nothing to do with causing Global Warming.

Many people think that Global Warming is a process caused by humankind. The people believe that when we drive Hummers and when we produce new makes and models for everything, it causes pollution, which makes poison go into the air, which speeds up Global Warming. Researchers say that because of our technological advancements, Global Warming is sped up. However, I think that Global Warming cannot be stopped, or slowed. If we try to stop Global Warming, we will most likely end up in debt, and have nothing left of our economy, causing more problems with our jobs, leading to less cures for diseases, which will eventually lead to death and struggle.

Global Warming is natural, and there is little to no way to stop it from happening. Natural global warming expert Fred Singer provides much information about global warming. For example, Singer says that global warming "is a hoax" and is just another way to make money. It just so happens that we are almost at the end of the 1,500-year cycle, according to historical events. This Global Warming cycle last occurred in the early 1800's, and they had no electricity, or vehicles, or technology. And if that isn't proof enough that Global Warming is not caused by us, then I speak for many when I say that I don't know what is. Besides, cold weather kills much more people than the warm. In fact, it kills more than twice the amount of people that hot weather kills, experts say! The diseases that are supposedly caused by Global Warming (Malaria, Dengue, and Encephalitis) are proven to not be caused by Global Warming. Mosquitoes cause malaria. We, as a people are not going to stop mosquitoes from being born. Diseases are important to this issue, but they do not have anything to do with what we do and do not do. So we are wasting valuable money that we could be using for bigger, better, and more important things that pertain to our economy, or our financial agenda.

I think that 90% of us do not need to change. Why 90%? Because there is about 10% percent of society out there that are being "green freaks" and wasting money on Smart Cars and going green. We should just be normal and save the stress of not having enough money to feed our families, or not having enough money to pay bills. The only people that need to change are people that are making huge deals about this issue. They are spending the world's money, and are making even more money by using the Internet to try to prove to people that global warming will end us all if we don't change. I know that the diseases will not stop themselves, but no matter what we do, we cannot stop them either. We cannot just catch all of the mosquitoes in the world to stop Malaria. It just can't happen. I recommend that we sit back, relax, and stop stressing over this global issue.

I would like to thank you for reading this letter. I appreciate you hearing out my own opinion about Global Warming and its supposed effects. I expect to hear from you soon.

Coridally,
Kayla